Mental Health Programs Aired On KBYU-TV

"The Faces of Self," a series of programs on mental health will be presented on KBYU-TV, Channel 11 beginning Mar. 7, according to officials in the Division of Continuing Education.

THIS PROGRAM is designed to give the general public an increasing appreciation of mental health principles as they pertain to daily life, according to KBYU-TV program director Joseph White.

White noted that each show in the series will be aired twice weekly for the convenience of the viewing audience. Showings will be Monday noon and Thursday at 8 p.m., Mar. 7 through April 28.

THE INITIAL showing will be Mar. 7 at noon and repeated on March 10 at 8 p.m. This program is entitled "Self-acceptance through self-awareness" and will give the audience a glimpse into the various facets of self and the ways to reconcile them.

THE 36-PIECE orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Crawford Gates, will leave the campus in two buses Sunday morning and will present six concerts in the period March 7 to 12.

A highlight of the group's repertoire while on tour will be the Herald Overture "High on the Mountain Top," by Dr. Gates, chairman of the BYU Music Dept.

THE ORCHESTRA will also play numbers written by Mozart, Norman delio Jolo, Ravel, and Respighi.

The tour will include performances at Rubidoux State Center, Riverside, Mar. 6; East Los Angeles State Center, Mar. 8; Glendale State Center, Mar. 9; Long Beach State Center, Mar. 10; Inglewood State Center, Mar. 11; Anaheim State Center, Mar. 12.

THE ORCHESTRA last toured California in 1953 when it supported a 300-voice group from BYU in two orchestras.

The group has been praised by California music critics for its performance in previous tours.

THE SAN DIEGO Tribune commented that "it has proved its reputation as one of the best college ensembles." The orchestra's playing was termed "nothing short of brilliant" by the Valley Times.

Albert Goldberg of the Los Angeles Times made the comment, "Latter-day musical activity is no novelty on a university campus today and BYU forces easily proved themselves among the best."

DR. GATES is a widely noted composer and conductor who has completed over 225 original works and hundreds of arrangements. Among them are the music for "Promised Valley," the 1947 Utah Centennial play, and "Send in Their Shoes," a musical play based on the Mormon Battalion and performed at BYU in 1959 and 1960.

HE HAS also written choral works, piano concertos, symphonies, and film scores. He holds degrees from San Jose State College, BYU, and University of Rochester.

Nine coeds took an early lead in the first two of seven contests which will determine the 1956 Belle of 'Y'.

They were Emma MacIntosh, sophomore music major from New Jersey; Julie Robeson, freshman majoring in English from Riverside, Calif.; Argot Walker, a senior physical education major from Hot Springs, Ark.; Patty Irvine, Boise, Idaho; Beverly Johnson, New Hampshire, both sophomores majoring in family living.

The five were chosen on the basis of their overall attractiveness, grace, composure, and attitude.

ix Inches Fall...

Snow Blankets Campus As Temperature Drops

March lived up to its old tradition and came roaring into BYU like a Tuesday night, strewn with clouds of snow, plummeting temperatures, and dashed hopes for a tender approach of spring.

SPRING officially begins in only two weeks, but it might as well be the middle of January as far as aspects go for sunshine and warmth.

But the deluge of snow made the difference in the lives of students other than get some out early Wednesday morning to snowplow roads and shove the walks.

BYU SECURITY Office said by a couple of minor accidents resulted from the slick roads, with significant damage reported.

The Health Center reported that no students seemed to suffer very much from falls on the slick sidewalks either—at least not enough to report in for treatment.

AND in the parking lots, the usual scramble results from snow covering the white parking lines as student drivers took advantage of the situation to squeeze their cars in any available opening.

BYU students aren't suffering alone, however. The entire state of Utah was covered with snow and the Weather Bureau reports hazardous roads all over the state.

SKIES WILL clear Thursday, the Bureau said, but temperatures will drop.

Ah . . . Fair Utah, Winter Playground of the World. But, enough's enough . . .

More Men Called For Viet War

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday he has authorized an increase in U.S. forces in South Viet Nam to 235,000 men. He said this strength could be boosted to over 350,000 without killing reservists to active duty. McNAMARA TOLD a news conference another 20,000 troops have been ordered to Viet Nam, on top of the 215,000 now there. This was the first public disclosure that U.S. armed strength in Viet Nam already had reached a high as 215,000. McNamara also said the U.S. is the capability to send 21 more divisions to Viet Nam within the next 90 days, if such action should be required.

THE DEFENSE Secretary said never, that based on his present assessment, such action is not likely.

McNamara made the disclosures in connection with a report on U.S. aid in which he said that despite stationing about 300,000 U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia "we are fully capable of meeting our commitments elsewhere in the world."

McNamara said he issued that announcement lest there be misinterpretation of America's ability—300,000 men in Southeast Asia—to cope with crises elsewhere.

VICE PRESIDENT Hubert H. Humphrey argued the administration's case on Viet Nam in another run—the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which has been a focus of dissent about the war in South Viet Nam.

Flanked by two advisors, Humphrey faced the committee and a handful of other Senators behind closed doors at the Capitol.

In Informal Session...

Humphrey Grilled By Committee

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, flanked by two top advisors, underwent questioning by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday on administration Viet Nam policy.

THE CLOSED meeting, in the office of Senate Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, gave Senators an opportunity for critical questioning of the Vice President on his recent nine-nation Asiatic tour for President Johnson.

The Vice President brought McGeorge Bundy, who has just retired as Johnson's Special Assistant for National Security Affairs, and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman along with him.

HUMPHREY'S appearance before the committee came a few hours after House Republicans got out a statement saying that "deep division within the Democratic party" over Viet Nam policy is prolonging the war. They said Johnson should "take command" to end the confusion.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was boycotting the session with Humphrey because of his objection to informal questioning and because it was being held on neutral grounds, away from committee's own offices.

Humphrey told reporters he did not have a prepared statement as he went into Mansfield's office. A reported asked him whether he would tell them afterward "about the fight."

"I DON'T think there is any fighting," he said with a smile. "My name isn't Cassius Clay." Members of the Foreign Relations Committee, led by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., have been sharply critical of Johnson's Asian policy and expressed fears that escalation of the war in Viet Nam raised the danger of a nuclear confrontation with Red China.

THE HOUSE Republican policy committee, in its statement said the American people are confused, the Communist aggressor is encouraged and troop morale is being undermined.

Humphrey met the Foreign Relations Committee on neutral ground—the office of Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

THAT MAY have made his task easier. Morse, a sharp and constant critic of the administration stand, boycotted the session.

TUCSON, Ariz., (AP)—A jury found 23-year-old Charles Schmid guilty of murdering two teen-aged daughters, a Tucson physician and recommended death in the electric chair.

The jury deliberated just over two hours. Schmid, pale and showing no emotion, murmured to a deputy sheriff as he was led from the court: "That's the way it goes."

Astro Services Held In Texas, Bural Friday

HOUSTON, Tex., (AP)—Astronauts Elliot M. See, Jr., and Air Force Maj. Charles A. Bassett II died as pilots, and Wednesday some of their fellow astronauts solemnly flew jets through a cloudy sky, leaving a vacant spot in the formation for the services.

SEPERATE memorial services were held in small, modern churches not far from the Manned Spacecraft Center, the home base for the nation's astronauts.

See, 36, and Bassett, 34, the men who were to fly spacecraft Gemini 9 next May, were killed Monday when their T-38 jet Fighter Trainer crashed into a building at the McDonald Aircraft Corp. plant in St. Louis, Mo.

Bural will be Friday in Arlington National Cemetery.

Most of the U.S. Astronauts attended Wednesday services, first at Sanbrook, Tex., Methodist Church for See, and then at the Webster, Tex., Presbyterian Church for Bassett.

Newest Satellite Begins Operating

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla., (AP)—Casper eyes aboard America's newest storm-hunting satellite, ESSA 2, began operating successfully Wednesday, officially creating the world's first fully operational weather forecasting network.

The hatbox-shaped satellite transmitted its first pictures Wednesday morning as it sailed about 100 miles above the earth on its 25th north-south orbit. Officials said the pictures were of "good quality."

Finance Vice-President Enjoys Executive Role

Byron Lowe
Universe Staff Writer

If you ever visit the ASBYU finance information desk, you can't miss the twinkle in the eyes of Dale Marquis' six secretaries (one each hour) who claim that their boss is "tops."

ONE INTERESTING QUALITY about Dale Marquis is that he enjoys his work and being busy. It does not bother him to take a few moments of his personal time in helping others. He seems to eat, sleep, and live the role of a financial executive.

Nearly any school day you can see the vice-president at the Wasatch Elementary School during lunch time. He helps with the lunch service for the children. "I enjoy doing it," said Marquis.

BESIDES BEING a student executive, Dale finds time to sing in a local group called the "Class-men." Along with these extracurricular activities, he manages to maintain a grade point average of 3.1.

Brown-haired, green-eyed, Dale started his college student life and gained an interest in singing.

DALE SERVED a mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Eastern States spending his last six months as the Mission Secretary. During this time he was able to perform in the Hill Cumorah Pageant.

"This was one of the highlights of my life," he said.

After his mission, Dale returned to BYU to major in accounting. Last year he campaigned for the office of vice-president of Finance. With the support and help of Cheryl Davis, now his fiancée, he was elected. His philosophy is to do all he can to live up to the responsibility given him by the studentbody.

DALE FEELS he has gained a great deal from the studentbody office. When asked what he has enjoyed most about being a vice-president, he said, "The opportunity to learn to accept responsibility and the freedom to carry it out. The people that I have become associated with in student government was one of the greatest opportunities for me."

This June, Dale is getting married, after which he and his wife will return to BYU for summer school where Dale will graduate in August.

Counseling Gives Help, Not Answers

By Tommy Tonaka
Universe Staff Writer

Contrary to popular opinion, counseling is not psychoanalysis. Neither is it a place one goes to "get all the answers."

IN FACT, a student seeking counseling will discover that he is doing most of the work himself. Although the Counseling Service at BYU does not present students with neatly packaged decisions or advice for problems, it does provide opportunities for the individual to learn to solve his own.

THROUGH INTERVIEWING, the counselor encourages the "client" to think and talk about himself. His own thoughts and feelings are thus clarified.

In this way, the individual develops deeper self understanding and gains the maturity necessary to make wise decisions.

"THIS IS the aim of the counseling service," explained Dr. Norman Kohlen, one of the counselors. "We try to help students maximize their potentials."

Because individuals are unique, they seek counseling for different reasons.

SOME HAVE social or personal problems.

"I guess people just don't like me," a student told his counselor. "I feel so nervous around people, too."

OTHER SIMILAR cases are indicated by the following comments:

"I don't know why I did it!"

"MY PARENTS expect so much of me."

Many students face academic vocational problems.

One problem is study habits. "I can't concentrate on anything," one student complained. "And I need to have enough time to study or get assignments done."

OTHERS are undecided about their careers. "I think I really want to go into medicine, but I don't sure I've got the ability," one student reflected.

"BESIDES, it takes so long as I want to get married this summer."

The above are representative cases.

DURING the 1964-65 school year, 8500 hours of interviews were held at the BYU Counseling Service.

This shows a 400% increase from the 1964 figure of 2100 interview hours.

Personal-social problems during the year 1964-65 accounted for about 67% of the 8500 hours, or approximately 57% of the total time.

EDUCATIONAL-vocational problems represented about 2100 interview hours.

However, it should be remembered that these figures represent the total number of interview hours, not the total number of individual cases.

THUS, although the figures are not available for this year, previous statistics have shown that there are far more students seeking educational-vocational assistance than personal-social.

Since the educational-vocational problems usually require fewer interviews, more students can be seen in a given amount of time.

IN ADDITION to the private interviews, the Counseling Service provides other aids.

One of these is group counseling. These sessions are provided for students who are benefited working in groups where they may share their feelings with one another with the help of a counselor.

TESTING is another service provided by the counselors to help students better understand the subject. Various tests in areas such as academic, special aptitudes, interests, personality traits, and educational achievements are available.

The Counseling Service maintains an informational library where students may browse factual material.

CURRENT CATALOGS from approximately 100 colleges and universities in the United States, Canada and overseas are on display for use.

To and in vocational planning, hundreds of brochures and pamphlets on careers, job opportunities and vocational trends are available.

Also, there is a dictionary of occupational titles which names and gives brief descriptions of 22,028 different jobs.

New York Fashion Make-Up Drops To Ladies Knees

By Sally Ryan

NEW YORK, (AP)—As hemlines go up, up, up, makeup is going down, down, adding a glittering sheen to the new modality of knees. The beauty people say a woman can't get by just making up her eyes anymore—she needs a knee

"Knees can change for better or worse the entire look of the legs," Charles of the Ritz and Elizabeth Arden say.

Charles of the Ritz is ready for the new fashions with a whole beauty treatment for the legs—transferring facial care south of the hemline.

It proposes the use of a facial mask to give the knees proper tone, a lotion to lubricate them and a moisturizer to keep them dewy-fresh.

Then for glamorous evenings, re-contoured knees, with a darker shade brushed on to deepen dimples or slim away the knobs and light shades for a delicate glow of color.

If the men haven't come to attention yet, there is one more suggestion—a glossy iridescent illumination, the pearly stuff more normally found on eyelids.

Junior Class Day To Boast Program

Entertainment by class members and displays of class achievement will highlight Friday's Junior Class Day, according to Russ Booth, chairman.

THEMED "Join the Junior Generation," the day will begin as Junior Housemembers pass out label cards at 7:30 a.m. Displays in the lounge area of the Wilkinson Center will include trophies, pictures of Junior class officers and athletes and coming events planned by the class.

This sequence series demonstrates the "rack" training procedure Coach John Lowell imported from the Orient this year to improve his volleyball team's back-court defense. Here Phillip Hewlen is forced to dive forward to "save" a spike only inches off the floor and then scoots forward on his belly as his body follows through on the dive motion.

Dizzy Battles NBC Attempt At Retirement

ST. LOUIS (AP)—No one wants to take credit for knocking Dizzy Dean out of the announcing box, and Dizzy refuses to go to the showers quietly.

"They wanted me to say I was retiring, but they can't tell me I'm going to retire," he said. "I'm not. I'll do everything possible to get back on the air."

Falkstaff Brewing Co., who sponsors the baseball game of the Week, blames the action on NBC, who is developing a new team of sportscasters.

With Japanese Techniques . . .

Clinic Teaches "New" Volleyball

By Lee Callister
Universe Sportswriter

Training methods imported from Japan are responsible for an exciting new look in volleyball at BYU.

STUDENTS WILL have an opportunity to see the results Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Richards Physical Education Bldg. gymnasium where a special exhibition match will see the nationally-ranked Cougars take on an all-star team composed of top players from Provo and Salt Lake City.

Devising many hours of their own time each week to strenuous workouts, the BYU volleyballers are currently striving towards perfection of their art through the use of a unique series of drills that originated in the Orient.

IN ONE SUCH DRILL, affectionately referred to by team members as "the rack," they learn to field loose balls that most teams don't even bother trying for.

Each player in turn advances cautiously towards the center of the court with muscles tensed and ready for action. He never knows just what to expect from the tall, determined coach John Lowell, who stands facing him with a volleyball in one hand and the other arm raised high in the air.

SUDDENLY THE ARM comes flashing down to send the ball hurtling towards the defender's face. He wards off the blow, taking the impact on his wrists with a sudden upward thrust that sends the ball arching towards a teammate in the corner.

Before he can regain his position another ball is on the way. The one is purposely wide to his left, and he leaves the ground in a head-first dive in order to reach it. He meets the ball in mid-air, and flicks it to a teammate just a split second before landing on his side on the hard wooden floor. Quickly he rolls over and scrambles to his feet just as the next ball leaves the tall man's hands.

THIS TIME THE BALL drops in front of him, and he has to dive forward to intercept it, landing on his chest and hands just after reversing the downward flight of the ball. The ball has adopted a gentle arc from which it can now be easily fielded.

As one by one they face the barrage of balls that Coach Lowell sends speeding their way, the volleyballers become adept at jumping, twisting, and diving after the ball with abandon until they are capable of fielding a loose ball at almost any point of the court.

IN OTHER DRILLS, they learn to setup the ball either frontward or backward without varying the basic motion so that opponents will be unable to tell in which direction the ball will travel, and to "spike" the ball with such force that it often reaches speeds that have been timed at over 100 miles per hour.

The use of such drills, along with weight-lifting and other exercises to develop strength and coordination, is largely responsible for BYU's rapid rise to national prominence in what is fast becoming one of the most popular sports in the world, according to Coach Lowell.

IT WAS IN JAPAN as a linguistics officer for the U.S. Army that Lowell became acquainted with the oriental training methods such as "the rack." Upon his retirement from the army, he came to BYU where he attempted to make the "Y" the first American college to adopt such a program.

Dedication on the part of such outstanding offensive players as all-American Jon Stanley and John Ahlstrom, defensive wizards "Jim" Naumu and Phillip Hewlen, and all-around standouts Richard Cox and Mehdi Namazi, has given Lowell an opportunity to take full advantage of the oriental methods.

COX INDICATED that it was the extra effort and superior conditioning acquired from this program that enabled BYU to take first place in both A and B divisions of the tournament held recently in Colorado.

According to Stanley, whom

Cougar fans will remember former BYU basketball new volleyball "takes more conditioning and coordination basketball and is every bit as hard to watch."

STANLEY FEELS THAT ball will eventually be a varsity sport in the West.

Sugar-Redskin Rivalry Renewed Saturday As WAC Season Closes

By Gary Wood
Chief Sports Editor

night's BYU-Utah basketball will add another long and bitter rivalry that goes back 37 years to a two-game edge, the Redskins have beaten Stan Watts and his operators only once in the years—and that win was an overtime affair on the two seasons back.

Varsity swept the two-game series and would like nothing to repeat the act.

Meeting between the two, high-scoring game proved that the Utah team will have its act in attempting its fifth straight win over the 1946 team of the Western Athletic Conference.

Team picked before the sportswriters and coaches among Conference also in the season and is on its best season in history.

Team picked before the sportswriters and coaches among Conference also in the season and is on its best season in history.

THERE is very little discernible difference between the performances of the Utes, currently 21-3, and the Cougars, 16-5.

At the Salt Lake home of the Ramin Redskins, BYU managed a 94-93 victory after a sensational comeback. The Utes were in apparent command of the situation with a ten-point lead late in the second half.

BOTH TEAMS are led by an All-American. The recent Associated Press All-American ratings listed Utah's Jerry Chambers and BYU's Dick Nemeika in the Honorable Mention category.

Chambers leads the Conference in both scoring (28.1) and rebounding (12.2) and Nemeika is currently third in scoring with a 23.9 average.

HOWEVER, the rival teams feature balanced scoring. Both squads boast four players who are averaging better than 11.7 points per game.

BYU is scoring 88.7 points per game, while the Cougars are hitting at an 88.4 clip.

DEFENSIVELY, Utah has held opponents to 81.6 points per game, while BYU's foes have scored 84.4. The Utes have grabbed 53.2 rebounds per contest to BYU's 47.6, but the Cougars controlled the boards in the January tussle in Salt Lake.

In field goal percentage Utah leads by a hair, .461 to .455.

WAC Statistics Show Redskin Still Leading

Displaying strength in every phase of the game, the Utah Redskins dominate statistics in the Western Athletic Conference basketball race, which will end Saturday.

The league leading Utes (7-2) have scored 88.4 points per game in conference play and are out front in both rebounding (52.2) and field goal percentage (.461). Third in defense, they have held opponents to 81.6 points.

Arizona's second-place Wildcats (5-3) have established themselves as the leading defensive team, having held opponents to 74.8 points per game. Nevertheless, their offensive advantage hangs by a thread, since they have scored 74.9 points per game.

The Cats do not have an impressive rebounding record (.481), but have made their free throws pay off by hitting 73.1 per cent from the line.

Brigham Young (5-4) still leads the conference in scoring with an average of 88.7 points per game, only 3 of a point ahead of Utah.

Although the Utes have clinched a tie for the conference title, they will take undisputed possession of the crown if they can trim Brigham Young in the season final Saturday, or if Arizona loses to either New Mexico or Wyoming. Two Arizona victories and a Utah loss this week would result in a tie for the championship and a playoff game would be necessary to select the conference representative for the NCAA playoffs.

Utah's Jerry Chambers tightened his hold on the Western Athletic Conference scoring lead last week by pouring 73 points against Wyoming and New Mexico.

The ambling 6-4 forward, who puts on the added spurt at the proper moment, leads the league in both scoring and rebounding, averaging 28.1 points and 12.2 rebounds per game.

Ted Pickett and Bob Spahn, both of Arizona, lead in field-goal and free-throw percentages. Pickett has hit 32.8 per cent of his shots from the field, and Spahn has sunk 86.7 per cent of his throws from the line.

Freddie Lewis of Arizona State, who led in scoring until two weeks ago, scored 30 points against Arizona to boost his average to 26.2.

Judge Rules Against Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller, handed down a series of rapid fire decisions Tuesday in Wisconsin's anti-trust suit against baseball, each time denying motions made by the National League and its 10 teams.

Defense counsel had tried to get before the court rulings by Georgia and Texas judges who have ordered the Braves to play the 1946 season in Atlanta.

League attorney Bowle Kuhn made an effort to restrict trial issues to the state's basic allegation that the move of the Braves constitutes violation of Wisconsin's "Little Sherman" Act.

Both motions were denied.

Sun Discussed At Planetarium

"The Sun, the Nearest Star," will be the title of the BYU Planetarium showing Thursday at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.

GIVING the lecture will be Dr. Kimball Hansen, professor of physics and astronomy. Public showings are held the second Thursday of each month at the planetarium, built in 1957 and the first to operate in Utah.

Located in the east dome of the Eyring Science Center, the facility has a projection dome 24 feet in diameter and a replica of the sky-line of Utah Valley as it would be seen from the roof of the building.

IN THE PLANETARIUM the Spitz optical projector creates an illusion of the sky at various times and latitudes. It also demonstrates the daily motions of the sky and the changing positions of the sun, moon and planets.
